3. Preventing overcrowding of patients in the several departments of the Hospital.

10)

Owing to the increase in the number of patients that are resorting to the Hospital for treatment and to the insufficiency of the menial staff, it has not been possible to preserve orderliness efficiently amongst the patients and to regulate their admission into the prescribing rooms. If at least six more Hospital peons on a pay of Rs 12 each are sanctioned, it will be possible to improve the existing conditions.

We visited the Hospital to-day and went round the Ear, Nose & Throat Department as also the Laboratory. But for the crowding in the Nose and Throat section owing to scanty accommodation to which we have referred in our notes of our visit dated 25th. March 1935, everything was in order.

Present:-

K.R.Srinivasa Iyengar,
Lady Raman,
Rao Sahib Channaiah,
Mr.Oosmankhan.

We visited to-day the out-patients dispensary and wards and also some of the in-patient's ward.

The out-patient dispensary is over-crowded and the arrangements for regulating the admission and treatment of patients therein admit of considerable improvement. Though separate entrances and working accommodation have been provided for males and females, we found males and females mixed up in the room set apart for the latter. Three Medical Officers, all seated in the same room round a single table attend to the male patients; while an equal number- one of whom is a Lady Doctor, seated round a table in another room attend to the female patients. We found each of the rooms fully crowded with patients (and also perhaps their relatives- friends accompanying them) who had all got into the rooms promicuously, without any attempt being made to regulate their number or admission into the room according to the priority of their arrival or waiting. An attempt seems to have made to introduce the system in force in Minto Ophthalmic Hospital of issuing the tickets to the patients in the order of their arrival and admitting them into the prescribing room in the order of their ticket number, but it does not seem to have been seriously enforced. The main difficulty in the way, of its enforcement is said to be the inadequacy of the staff. If the system is to be worked effectively (or at least a literate attendant) for the issue of the tickets and a couple of additional peons at least to guide and admit the patients will be necessary for each of the men's and women's sections. This small expenditure, is, in our opinion well worth incurring- we may say is absolutely essential in the interest of efficiency.

The above remarks apply also to the rooms in the main building which is used for the treatment of the out-patients in the Throat and Nose Section.

In our opinion, with the steady increase in the number of out-patients the accommodation in the present out-patient dispensary has become quite inadequate. It is just sufficient for either the male or the female patients alone and an additional building of equal size is necessary, instead of all the three Medical Officers in each section being seated
